

standing in the estimation of all who have used it, that it was necessary to comment on its merits. The Pakistan, however, is called upon to observe, that by its use - from the greater amount of surface which a given quantity will cover, and the small amount of labour required to working it, a saving of 20 to 25 per cent. is effected as compared with other cements for internal use. However, it is not recommended for use in the construction of all kinds of monumental purposes, such as columns, and for all quantities obtained of the factories, Messrs. R. V. E. N. S. and M.
